EDITORS:

London School of Economics and Political Science

David Pratten

University of Oxford

Africa is the premier journal devoted to the study of African societies and culture. Editorial policy encourages an ethnographic and interdisciplinary approach, involving humanities, social sciences, and environmental studies. We publish theoretically informed ethnographies, and studies of social relations 'on the ground' which are sensitive to local cultural forms. Africa aims to give increased attention to African production of knowledge, highlighting the work of local African thinkers and writers, and emerging social and cultural trends.

A full listing of the editorial board is available at journals.cambridge.org/afr-editorialboard

The 'Local Intellectuals' Strand

Edited by Karin Barber, this thematic strand on 'local intellectuals' highlights obscure or unpublished texts by Africans writing outside the academic or literary mainstream. These shed a fascinating light on local life in Africa. Online publication makes it possible to reproduce extensive local texts in their entirety, as a supplement to articles published in the journal.

- Popular Economies in South Africa
- Land Politics in Africa

Africa Bibliography

Published since 1984, Africa Bibliography is an authoritative guide to works in African studies and records the previous year's published work in the field. An online database is also available to subscribers, offering a rich, interactive and easily searchable resource for all scholars interested in the study of Africa.

International African Library

The International African Library (IAL) is a major monograph series from the International African Institute. Theoretically informed ethnographies have long been central to the Institute's publications programme. The IAL includes works focused on the linkages between local, national and global levels of society; writings on political economy and power; studies at the interface of the socio-cultural and the environmental; analyses of the roles of religion, cosmology and ritual in social organisation; and historical studies, especially those of a social, cultural or interdisciplinary character.

The International African Institute

The IAI was founded in 1926 in London as the International Institute of African Languages and Cultures. Over the years, the IAI has played a pioneering role in promoting African studies through facilitating research, scholarly publishing about Africa, and a variety of other programmes including hosting seminars and lectures.
